

Steve Zirilli joins Maxum Petroleum as Chief Information Officer

March 15, 2010, Greenwich, CT. Steve Zirilli has joined Maxum Petroleum as Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer. Prior to joining Maxum full time, Mr. Zirilli had been working with the Company since 2008 as a key strategic partner developing the technology strategy with a supporting business case to transition Maxum's operations to an integrated business model that will better enable scalability and drive operational and sales synergies across the Company through a standard ERP system. In his new role, Mr. Zirilli will assume primary leadership responsibility for the information technology function and to complete the implementation of Maxum's ERP platform.

Mr. Zirilli most recently was employed by Alvaraz and Marsal, a leading business consulting firm, as a Senior Director with key responsibilities in providing strategic insights and ERP expertise to a diverse client base. Prior to joining Alvarez and Marsal, Mr. Zirilli was the Chief Information Officer for KBR, a global business unit of Halliburton, responsible for the delivery of IT services at the enterprise level to over 80 countries.

Mr. Zirilli, who holds an Accounting degree from Louisiana State University, transitioned into the information technology arena after holding several senior level positions in finance and accounting at Bearing Point/KPMG, and Arthur Anderson.

Mr. Zirilli's proven track record of establishing and leading an IT function will be an asset to Maxum as it continues to integrate its family of companies into an industry leader under one brand name.

Steve Zirilli will be based in the Greenwich, CT Headquarters, reporting directly to the CEO, E. Perot Bissell.
